Key takeaways

- Pricing softened: the April median close price was $1.36M, 4.2% below April 2025.
- Homes took longer to sell: average market time increased by 4.4 days to 24.8 days.
- April activity improved year over year, with 330 new listings and 131 closed sales.
- The latest 12-month sales volume was $2.1B, down 5.7% from the prior period.
- Broker competition remained fragmented: the leading office held only 7.2% of Irvine sales volume.

Market interpretation

Irvine is shifting toward a more balanced market: buyers gained some pricing leverage and more time to decide, while April transaction activity remained resilient. Sellers should price close to current comparables and expect longer marketing periods than a year ago.
